

What's Really Best for Patients Requiring Infusion Therapy?

A recent study offers surprising insights

The demand for infusion services is growing, while the cost of specialty drugs continues to rise. In this environment, providers are under increasing pressure to deliver timely, high quality care while managing capacity and cost.

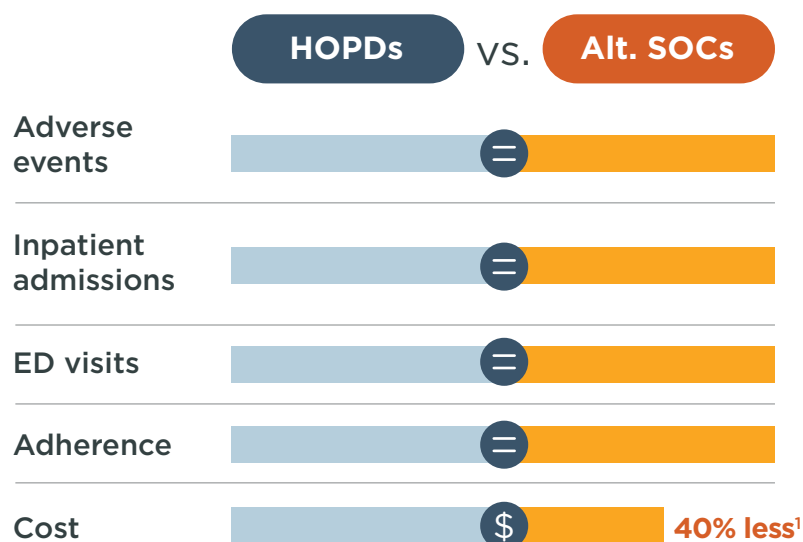

Alternative sites of care (SOCs) offer quality outcomes at significantly lower costs

A new study reveals that infusion therapy delivered at alternative SOCs, including home infusion and ambulatory infusion centers, delivers outcomes equal to those of hospital outpatient departments (HOPDs)—while reducing costs by about 40%.¹

Read the full study

“Hospital outpatient departments have higher outpatient costs without a reduction in adverse events, inpatient admissions or ED visits or an increase in infusion therapy adherence.”¹

IV Anywhere: 20+ years of flexible infusion care

At Paragon, our IV Anywhere model provides flexible infusion care where it is safe, convenient, and cost-effective for your patients. We support chronic patients nationwide with a focus on hemophilia, IVIg, and rare and complex conditions.

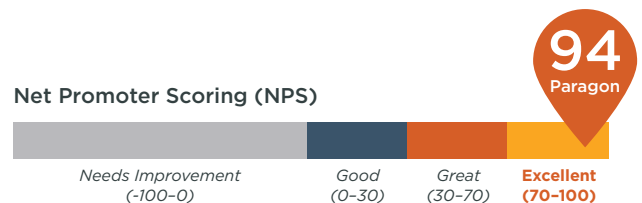

Paragon can support you and your patients:

- Nearly 50 community infusion centers — we prioritize shorter wait times and a comfortable experience
- Home infusion — our nurse concierges guide patients through their care journey
- 200+ FDA-approved infusible therapies — we treat a wide range of chronic conditions
- Specialized clinical expertise — our medical staff help keep your patients safe on therapy
- Seamless support for you — our team lifts administrative burdens yet keeps you informed at every step

High patient satisfaction can lead to greater medication adherence and positive outcomes

Our high Net Promoter Scoring exceeds national averages and reinforces our patient loyalty, satisfaction and willingness to recommend our services — giving you added confidence in your choice.

*1H'26 community infusion center and home infusion metric.

Help make infusion care easier and more affordable — for everyone.

Learn how we can help you transition appropriate patients to a Paragon infusion setting that prioritizes comfort, safety and positive outcomes. Referral is simple and continuity of care is assured. And, as a physician, you remain in control of all care decisions.

A Carelon Company

Take the next step

Learn more about Paragon at
PARAGONHEALTHCARE.COM